ACIDITY

Indigestion is frequently caused by over consumption of meals particularly when these are of a fatty nature. Globules of excess fat, difficult to digest slow down the digestive process. This causes the stomach to supply more digestive juices, including acid with resultant discomfort caused by distention and gas formation.

CAUSES:

Consumption of large meals.
Excessive fat and spicy foods.
Excessive intake of tea and coffee.
Smoking and alcohol consumption.
Stress and hypertension.

SYMPTOMS:

Burning sensation.
Nausea.
Vomiting.
Loss of appetite.
Indigestion.
Stomach pain.
Heaviness in the body.
